

ABSTRACT

This invention describes the human gene homologue of the mouse gene previously identified. The human gene is located on the long arm of chromosome

- 5 17. The human gene, termed G1h, encodes for a protein, termed P1h, that substantially differs from the mouse protein. The human protein P1h can be used for immunosuppressive actions and clinical applications.

10

BFLODOCS 904644v1